MACKfilters are designed to meet specific requirements and are quality proven in laboratory and field testing performance efficiency is assured between recommended change intervals. MACK filters ensures perfect purification, increase fuel efficiency helps in pollution control, ensures full life span of engine, provides smooth running of the vehicle and reduce maintenance costs. MACK product quality is constantly checked through our laboratory facilities all raw materials are tested to ensure that exact specifications are met: Laboratory activities include problem solving and experimenting with new designs, quality check of competitive elements and new filtration concepts and testing for an engine performance. In addition on line testing is performed continuously to ensure quality throughout every production run.
